

TERMS & CONDITIONS –

Terms and conditions (T&C) for a new customer in a bank management system web application may vary depending on the policies and regulations of the bank or financial institution. However, some common T&Cs for a new customer in a bank management system web application may include:

1. Account Eligibility: The customer must meet the bank's eligibility criteria, such as age, residency, and identity verification, to open and maintain an account.
2. Account Types: The customer must choose an account type that meets their financial needs and complies with the bank's regulations.
3. Account Maintenance: The customer must maintain a minimum balance in their account and follow the bank's rules for overdrafts and other account activities.
4. Transactions: The customer must follow the bank's rules and regulations for transactions, such as deposit and withdrawal limits, fees, and processing times.
5. Personal Information: The customer must provide accurate and complete personal information, and keep their account information up to date.
6. Security: The customer must keep their account password and security information confidential and follow the bank's security procedures.
7. Dispute Resolution: The customer must follow the bank's dispute resolution procedures in the event of a dispute or complaint.
8. Changes to Terms and Conditions: The bank reserves the right to modify or update these T&Cs at any time, and the customer must review and accept the updated T&Cs to continue using the account.

These are just some of the common T&Cs that a new customer in a bank management system web application may be required to accept. It is important to review the specific T&Cs of the bank or financial institution to ensure a complete understanding of the customer's rights and obligations.
